V Series™ Packaging Change

Ref: CCN-08152017-Packaging Change

This is a Customer Change Notice (CCN) for the V Series Bridgelux LED Array products.

Effective October 14th, 2017, Bridgelux will implement new packaging tubes for Generation 6 and Generation 7 V Series array products outlined in Table 1. The new V Series packaging tubes will replace the previously used packaging trays, but all other packaging materials will remain unaffected. If the product is not listed in the below table, there will be no changes to that product line. Do note some MOQs and SPIs will be adjusted to the specs stated in Table 1.

Current Packaging Tray:

New Packaging Tube:

The new V Series packaging tubes have the following added benefits for customers and resellers:

1. The V Series array packaging tubes simplify inventory distribution across manufacturing lines and resale channels.
2. The V Series arrays can be easily removed from the packaging tubes and reduces the risk of handling/assembly failures.
3. The V Series arrays packaging tubes provide reduced unit density per ESD bag, minimizing inventory exposure risk.
4. The V Series array packaging updates will now be consistent with all V Series products with packaging tubes.
